Accomplishments and how grant funds were utilized

The 14th annual Read Across America Community Celebration utilized funding from the Urbana Arts Grant to keep the event in Urbana and to incorporate professional storytelling into the event.

The impact that the grant funds had on artistic or organizational development

This year, Read Across America Celebration was able to continue having a family festival in Urbana due to the funding which was provided by the City of Urbana Arts Grant. The surveys that were completed by the parents who attended still indicate that Lincoln Square is the preferred location for this event. The space is large, yet it isn't too large for families who have young children to get around. They also conveyed that parking is ample. The grant also provided for ten local storytellers to perform during the entire event and enhance the festival. The professionalism of these storytellers engaged the children and their parents and made it an event that was worth attending, even for families who have attended for multiple years. Both children and adults were mesmerized by the performances.

The number of hours spent

The event was held between the hours of 10:00am to 1:00am, and it is overwhelming to conceive the amount of time that is needed to prepare for the event. But on March 1st, Lincoln Square was bustling as early as 7:00 am in order to set up for this event. The planning committee donated more than 500 hours in order to prepare for the event. There were 6 committee meetings this year, but many hours were spent by the co-chairs and committee members to make contacts with agencies and volunteers, to publicize the event, to prepare materials, to communicate with other sponsors and potential participants.

The number of participants

Again, more than 1000 children attended with their parents, grandparents and other community members. There were over 100 University students, Rotarians, Altrusans, Lincoln's Challenge cadets, Jr. League members and other community volunteers. More than fifty volunteers from various schools and agencies provided activities for young children throughout the mall. In all, it is estimated that almost 3,000 people were in Lincoln Square on March 1st.

Description of experience working with collaborating partners

We appreciated all the support that was received by the collaborating partners. This year, we had the privilege to work with Cynthia Chandler from the Urbana Business Association. Her experience and assistance was very valuable as our long-time News Gazette connection, Amy George, moved out of the state. Cynthia provided us with information and resources that were necessary to continue to have a professional event. She devoted herself to the committee by attending most of the meetings and making follow-up contacts. The Committee is composed of volunteers who represent various agencies and organizations in our community. This includes Altrusa International of Champaign-Urbana, The Champaign Public Library, the Urbana Free Library, Champaign County Retired Teachers Association, Child Care Resource Service, Community Elements, Illinois Early Intervention Clearinghouse, Ju Canto Spanish, Parkland College Adult Education, The Reading Group, Urbana Adult Education Center, Urbana Business Association, and the Urbana Park District.

Additional Comments

For the first year, we had to pay for advertising as the News Gazette no longer provided that in-kind donation. We had to pay 50% of the advertising, which costs over $1500 this year. We are fortunate to have continued support each year from many different organizations, businesses and agencies.

For a video presentation of the event please see the presentation which has been completed by Driving Force Productions about one of the featured storytellers: Mike O'Brien and the Clothespin Puppets at Read Across America
